Grade 3 Writers Steal the Show at Whitefield-Sarjapur Campus!

The air was abuzz with excitement as our Grade 3 learners transformed into budding authors. Their Publishing Day was no ordinary event; it was a celebration of creativity, courage, and collaboration. Imagine a classroom filled with young writers, their faces beaming with pride as they shared their stories with parents. Our little ones took centre stage, confidently guiding the audience through the writing process. From brainstorming to the final draft, they showcased their newfound skills with great enthusiasm.

Parents were in awe of their children's growth and independence. The interactive format, where students shared their work directly with parents, fostered a deeper connection and understanding of the learning journey. This publishing event was more than just a showcase; it was a stepping stone for our young writers. We are incredibly proud of their accomplishments and can't wait to see what literary wonders they create next!

Small moments really need this kind of attention, especially in these times. Thank You. In this era of too much information and excessive screen time, such emphasis on small moments and the kids' interpersonal camaraderie is such a treat to witness. Great experience today. Was sufficient time to mostly evaluate the class as a whole. Your exuberance and warmth as teachers and caretakers is a blessing.

Kindergarteners of Yeshwanthpur Campus go Shopping

During the week, our Kindergarteners did a deep dive into the world of healthy eating. They were taken through the magic of balanced diets and the manifold benefits of incorporating fruits and veggies in their menus. With this as the preamble, they were taken on a field trip to a supermarket!

Armed with self-created shopping lists, they walked through the aisles, picking off items to put a fruit salad together. The shopping experience did not end there: once they had the items in hand, they proceeded to the checkout counter and observed the cashier marking off the items and generating the bill, following which they actually made the payment themselves! A valuable lesson in shopping wisely and observing proper etiquette.

The supermarket trip proved to be a fantastic learning experience! Students were thrilled to apply classroom knowledge to real-world situations, from creating shopping lists to making healthy food choices. The excitement during the bus ride and the joy of creating their own fruit salad were clear indicators of the trip's success.

The campaign period was a vibrant spectacle, with students showcasing their oratory skills and leadership potential. The election process was conducted with utmost transparency and fairness, reflecting the school's commitment to democratic values.
